PUBLISHED BY THE STUDENT BODY

Foreword

An effective programme of formal professional education is fundamental to the integrity of a profession

Thus Horace H. Hayden and Chapin A. Harris must have thought, when they labored in 1840 to found the first dental college.

The staff salutes the growth and development of dentistry on its centenary.

Man has always obtained some degree of satisfaction in sitting with an open book viewing a chronological order of the past. The following pages are intended for just that, and it is our earnest desire that the reader will get the highest measure of pleasure whether in sober reflection, or reverie.

The Staff.

CENTENNIAL YEAR
of Dental Schools

CONSCIOUS of the hundred-year record of outstanding service and unparalleled progress and achievement which is our heritage as scions of M.C.V.; conscious also of such achievement in the face of handicaps which each generation has helped to eliminate, and now proudly viewing our enlarged and modernized plant and equipment, we, the 1940 graduating class, do proudly and confidently, yet humbly and reverently, dedicate this our annual to

BOOK I

W. T. SANGER, M.A., PH.D., LL.D., L.H.D.

To Our Student Body

DURING the session 1939-40 the most historic building of the college will have been restored and remodeled through the generosity of the son of an alumnus. Thus, the Egyptian Building, our beloved symbol, will be launched into another century, embodying more beauty, permanence, and utility than ever before.

Likewise this year the long awaited hospital will be well on its way toward completion. The fourth floor of McGuire Hall and the Gaillard Laboratory will contribute substantially to further rounding out the physical plant. While there are other similar needs yet to be met, it can now be said that we are completing important first stages of development on the physical side, buildings and equipment having reached a value of approximately $5,000,000.00.

An equally good word could be said for our personnel and our work.

But we must ever keep in mind that an institution exists chiefly for students, patients, research and alumni; these latter constitute the backbone of any truly great centre of learning and service.

If every one of you leaving us this year will maintain an alert interest in the plans and the problems of the institution and an earnest desire to help in every way—in recommending high class students, in securing bequests and endowments for the institution, and in creating good will whenever and wherever possible, no one can predict the limits of our development and of our usefulness. This is an inescapable challenge. Its realization depends upon persistent enthusiasm and loyal support.

All of you are equal to this responsibility.

Sincerely yours,

W. T. SANGER, President.

Senior Class History

IN LOOKING back over the past four years our thoughts go back to the time when we looked forward to the attainment of a doctor's degree as the end and aim of existence. We were afire with ambition of a very short sighted nature as we see now when we near the end of our course. Our ideals have changed, and with them our ambitions have changed too as we see ourselves, not nearing a goal but reaching a milestone.

We have not changed our attitudes so much as we have thought. They have been changed for us. In our first year we sometimes became impatient with the strict routine which was imposed upon us. Long hours in classrooms and at the dissecting table have taught us more than the answers to the questions to be asked. They have taught us patience. The second year gave us more than the ability to look down a microscope for hours without tiring or set up tedious experiments so that they looked tidy and worked well. We used our hard won patience and gained skill with our hands for delicate work. During these two years we learned to admire the men who taught us. We saw in their lives a quality of faithfulness to their work which had its influence on us.

In our first clinical year, the third of the medical course, we began to realize that we were gaining our skill and patience for a purpose. How strange it was to examine a patient—not to demonstrate to the instructor that your method of work was acceptable, but to see for yourself what could be found with the method. We began to feel very powerful and important because they worked, not realizing with sufficient gratitude that it was old to those who helped us learn, and that they would often rather have done the work themselves than witness our painfully clumsy efforts. Nevertheless, we continued our services, going from one to the other with a feeling of regret that we had not learned all we could.

So we see how our attitude has changed, how changed we hardly know. We have leaned on those who are our teachers and have gained immeasurably from the contact. We see that our time here has been spent in laying a foundation. We are still in need of help, but we must learn to help ourselves. We are the ones who must finish the work of building. Then when we are through and have come to the end of life, may we look at the house we have built on our foundation and be satisfied with the results we have obtained—a life of usefulness and work well done.

Junior Class History

THE records of the pilgrimage of the class of '41 are recorded indelibly on the minds of its seventy-two members—there is little more to be said. However, for the benefit of those who do not belong, the following is a brief retrospect on the first two and a half years.

For nearly three years we have worked and played together to learn that the many facts and theories we have laboriously committed to memory are only an infinitesimal amount compared with the vast realm of medicine. Anatomy, Embryology, and Histology gave us part of the facts which Biochemistry and Physiology tried to explain. Pathology included both facts and explanations. How valuable these rudiments are becomes evident as we advance and are able at last to study patients.

Our class has besides upholding the traditions of the yester-years been unique in several instances. Historically speaking, we were the last group to meet in the nearly century-old Egyptain building before its transformation into a pathological institute began. It was the last meeting before the physiology orals, and is deeply imprinted in our minds for various reasons.

In the spring of 1939 the class set aside a day honoring our beloved teacher—Dr. Harvey Haag. Male members wore bow ties and smoked cigars in his honor. The doctor himself took the whole thing so admirably that the class enjoyed the incident immensely.

Dr. Apperly upheld tradition and invited the class, on a rainy day in May, to his annual picnic. Coming upon the crowd accidentally, one would never have thought them to be a staid professional group, for they gave the appearance of "raggamuffins" having a big time.

Mixed up in our memories are stiffs and autopsies, Miller's ovum and Endameba, blood analysis and blood pictures, Ob. calls, orals and writtens, "and another point," "this is the slowest group we ever had in this clinic," and "zowie," and of course "cousin Cora and cousin Bessie."

But now we look to the future with hopes and plans for eventually becoming the best doctors.

Age: Two years—and sometimes acts it.

Occupation: Dabbling in the various and sundry courses that lead to a medical degree.

Chief Complaint: "I have more work than I can do."

Diagnosis: 1. Class allergic to work.
2. Also indifferent to study. True intellectual curiosity replaced by a "Hokum" attitude.
3. Patient regrets condition, but doesn't much want to be cured.

Family History: Next to the youngest child in an old and esteemed family. Patient well-nurtured in the traditions of medical education. Not spoiled, but on the contrary, at times a little subdued by the realization of what it has to live up to.

No hereditary basis for patient's condition. According to the profs, this class is unique in history—(not meant to be a compliment).

True to the spirit of Base Hospital 45, the class, rigidly disciplined in the R. O. T. C., is ready for active service in the case of war—even if it's just a battle of paper-wads or swift, deadly attacks on unsuspecting frogs.

Past History: This allergy noticed from earliest infancy. Attacks occur before quizzes, during long lab periods, and especially at exam time. Last year they were most violent before Dr. Nichols' quizzes; this year, before Dr. Kernodle's. These onsets usually followed by terrific after-effects, much to the joy of the nurses and the financial division of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board. Mental elation and pocketbook deflation occur "pari passu." (Cf. Boyd—the ultimate authority in all things pathological.)

Slightly milder attacks occur when quiz papers are returned. After-effects less violent, but complete recovery slower and accompanied by much arguing and dickering.

Frequent upsets also caused by autopsy calls. Those at one o'clock in the morning are particularly virulent. Effects of sleep-loss are quite alarming in a patient constitutionally lazy.

Systems: Honor system—seems to work quite well. Political system—it stinks!

Student-professor good will center (apple-polishing group)—morphologically approaches normal. That is, restricted to the usual small but noticeable area. Physiologically, slightly subnormal—or else this year's apples are harder to polish.

Habits: Mostly bad. Addicted to ping-pong playing in its most vicious form—the variety played during lab periods. Sleep not sound—frequently interrupted by Dr. Shaw's or Dr. Haag's jokes. Almost invariably patient leaves lab early. Eating—regular. Breakfast always from ten to ten-thirty. Exercise—takes the form of sports—in almost all of which the class excels. Basketball, perhaps, is the most spectacular. The scores are quite imposing. (Note: We're the best in the school! ! !)

Social History: Cannot seem to adapt itself to the giddy social whirl that revolves around debutantes. Contents itself with the humbler outlets for man's gregarious instinct—for example, beer parties.

Freshman Class History

IT WAS the morning of September 5, 1939. Eighty strong we gathered, Hokum, Siwash, and Cinch, to begin our new careers at M. C. V. With greetings and salutations, pomp and ceremony, we were welcomed in the amphitheatre at the laying of the cornerstone, and again at the faculty reception. "Papa" Larrick's great assistance helped each of us get "settled."

As classes began, we were filled with the desire to lay a firm foundation in the Medical Sciences. Bones, Gray's Anatomy and the midnight oil were next in order. The constant "lure" of the microscope and Dr. Shaw's keen lectures spurred us on our way. Then came the first crude incision on the cadavers, we claim to be the champion class for uncovering anomalies, but more will be heard about them from the Medical Journals.

"At this stage of the game" most of us survived the trip along the tortuous path from ovum to man "by hitting the high spots."

During the first few weeks of fright and anxiety, one member of the faculty was never too busy to listen to our tales of woe and lend a helping hand. Will anyone ever forget him, small of statue but mighty in good deeds.

It is our hope that on the long looked for day of graduation there will be few vacancies among our ranks. Although the trials will be long and tedious, the class of '43 will come through still harkening to the call of the world for doctors. Time marches on!

Senior Class History

WE THE Senior Class of 1940, have made our school career while at M. C. V. one of much zeal and enthusiasm. We have increased our power of concentration, have more determination, and the best of all, Dr. Little has pressed into our thick skulls, "that we must keep organized." These things are to be invaluable assets to those who possess them, and an incalculable loss for those who have them not.

As Seniors we look back to our Freshman year as one of readjustment, trying to adapt ourselves to our chosen profession. We had to achieve the art of tooth carving, taking impressions and drawing. Many of us had headaches trying to locate a certain nerve and blood vessel on our cadavers.

The summer months following our first year we enjoyed in complete rest from the mental strain and entered our second year with more vigor and determination. We progressed further in dentistry with Crown and Bridge, Pathology, Physiology, Pharmacology, Prosthectics, Operative and dear old Bio—all beating us hard in the face.

Another restful summer passed, and we commenced our Junior year. The greatest epoch in our history was when we went into the clinic. We were ready to put our theoretical knowledge into practice, not on models, but on human beings. This is when we really had our troubles. Along with all of this, there were thoughts passing through our minds that in another year we would have the prestige which is the traditional heritage of a Senior.

Now, we are Seniors, and what a wealth of feeling and memories and expectations the word suggests. Although the work has been difficult, we have derived all the benefits. It is at this time that we can understand the many trials and tribulations that our instructors have undertaken and endured in bringing us up to our present status. And to these gentlemen, we express our feelings of gratitude and appreciation.

The friendships that were originated in our Freshman year have become mellow and prime. We sincerely believe that they have made us nobler and richer. In the future may these friendships be cherished and recalled as those that were strengthened each year while at M. C. V.

Now, as the time of graduation will soon be here, the feeling of responsibility and gratitude descends upon us. We as classmates will part; some of us will meet again, while others may not. May we all go out into the various communities in an enthusiastic way, and may the hopes and aspirations that lie ahead make us an integral part in forwarding our profession and its services to humanity.

Junior Class History

LIKE the seasons of the year, we have abided our time in reaching for the peak of our dreams and ambitions.

Autumn, we will call our Freshman year. As the instinct of autumn instills in all animals the urge to lay away a good supply of food for the winter, we too began to store our minds with the basic fundamentals of Dentistry, to instill in our every thought to progress with Dentistry in its rapidly expanding growth. Oh! our hopes were high, but as the beauty of nature fades at the end of fall, we too had the fear someone might burst our dream.

Winter follows autumn as the Sophomore follows the Freshmen. The storms were thick and hard that winter, Biochemistry and Physiology, storms that nearly covered many of us for good. Winter evenings are long and hard to those who, like the grasshopper, forgets to store away the food of knowledge that they might live the winter in comparative comfort. It was these that winter starved out.

Spring is the time of year we notice all the things about in wonder, as though we had never seen them before. Our dreams and ambitions again soar to new heights, for the first time we are to realize our dreams; even frightened we can see a greener field, life, not the dull and the deader dentoform. It is with enthusiasm we push forth into a new year and season.

Sophomore Class History

THE first chapter in the book, "Class of 1942," had thirty-four pages. With backs of solid leather, furnished by the expert guidance of our professors, it promised to be a wonderful edition to the literature of the dental profession. Although a few pages were lost, many scarred and torn by the thorough reading, the chapter proved to be all that could be wished of a "best seller." Several paragraphs had footnotes for re-reading, but during the summer all stains were removed.

Thus the second chapter had thirty-two pages, including four additional pages placed in our book at the beginning of the chapter. Operative, prosthetics and crown and bridge were scattered throughout this chapter, with spots of physiology, pharmacology, bacteriology, and pathology appearing in the last of the chapter. Pictures of dentiforms and dentures were very numerous, showing the results of the work of the class of '42 at the halfway mark in their thirst for knowledge in the field of dentistry. Now, the class of '42 is prepared to write the third chapter in their book which takes them into the clinic.

Senior Class History

A FEW yars ago some young students came to the School of Pharmacy of the Medical College of Virginia with the intentions of becoming pharmacists.

Our ideas and interests were many and varied. Little did we realize the full meaning of the course which we sought. Our only hope was in the hands of the professors who were to cultivate us from just the average position into a professional position.

Our professors were to us persons with heads of knowledge seeking to pour, pounce, and pound required material into the place where "grey matter" ought to be. We thought of them as high, superior officers of the faculty here to teach and that was all we thought of them. Those of us who knew alumni inquired about the men who were to teach us, after we found out the names of the professors. Some received favorable impressions while others received scorn. Upperclassmen had seen to it that we were discouraged or incouraged as they saw fit. However, we soon found that this was no way to seek the real value of the professors that were to bear the burden of "breaking the ice" of the new class.

We seemed afraid to speak or ask questions, but that was only human. The professors respected the rights of the individuals and were only too glad to go out of their way to help a student or group of students over the road of difficulties. Although they seemed "stone cold" at first, they had a word of warmth and welcome for every student in the school.

The students of the School of Pharmacy feel that without the aid, encouragement, and personal feeling of the faculty they would have been unable to master the difficulties that have arisen in the last four years. As we write, and those of you who happen to read this, we hope you will remember the part the faculty has played in shaping our lives and careers.

We will also remember the persons that made up the Class of 1940. They too have made us feel the dignity and prestige of the profession which we are aiming to follow with the best of our ability. Never will we forget the social events and the congeniality that existed between the members of this school and the other schools. We have found that they too share a field of the profession of which we are proud to be a part.

With a class that now has suffered both defeat and victory, we hope that in the spring of 1940, we will be able to supply the State of Virginia with sixteen professional pharmacists.

With the salutation we say, "Thanks to M. C. V. and the inspiration which it has offered."

Junior Class History

AFTER passing through a year of veritable hysteria, i. e. Mr. Pitts' "double pneumonia" (Qual. and Quant.); Dr. Hughes' comparative anatomy which gave us a pain in the head; Mr. Harrison's physics which changed the dynamos of our brains and made them turn with centrifugal force; Dr. Reese's pharmaceutical math which resembled an overdose of strychnine; Dr. Thomas' economics and sociology which added to our confusion and bewilderment, we enter into the coveted Junior Year where we not only learn how to roll pills and fold powders but also learn what they contain. Thirty-one "little pharmacists" crossed the half way mark with mortars, pestles, and spatulas in hand eager to learn the vital facts concerning the serving of mankind and aiding the human cause.

We selected to guide us through those perilous paths Charles W. Johnson, a local boy who made good, and seven other able assistants. May we as members of a great profession embracing a great class always strive to raise and keep the ideals of pharmacy on a superior plane.

Sophomore Class History

THE good ship, Ambition, again set sail upon the sea of knowledge on Tuesday, September 19, 1939, when the Sophomore Class of Pharmacy began its instruction. She put out from her first port of call following a short period of rest which succeeded her first year's voyage. A full crew was aboard. Not the original crew; for a few members had been lost during the tempests of the first voyage. However, a sufficient number remained to adequately man her. The new members, transfers from other schools, were heartily welcomed and entered into the routine as old hands.

On Monday, September 18, 1939, the entire student body had their first formal gathering of the season in the school's newly acquired auditorium. Following the convocation exercises, all proceeded to the site of the new hospital building, where, amid impressive ceremonies performed by a local Mason's lodge, they saw the cornerstone of this magnificent edifice laid.

On Friday, October 20, 1939, the Mortar and Pestle Club dance took place in the Winter Garden of the Hotel Richmond. This affair, the gala event of the year, was enjoyed by all. Then followed classes and quizzes. Dotted through the entire year were short periods of rest and relaxation always followed by more work.

Each day brought new and interesting problems, and each member tried to live those days, one by one. Each tried to sail his course evenly and truly towards success. Each hoped to make the home port successfully, there to rest for a spell, and again to put out as Juniors. May this hope be realized by all.

Freshman Class History

ON THE eighteenth of September, 1939, a group of twenty-three new pharmacy students gathered at the college auditorium for the convocation exercises. We were timid, homesick individuals whose one desire was to study and learn the art of pharmacy. As Dr. Sanger, our president, spoke to us our timidity seemed to wane, and new strength surged within us as we were told that someday we would become graduates of a school that for over a century had graduated outstanding professional men and women.

Then with envy, we looked upon the graduating class as they marched down the isle wearing their caps and gowns, and we became determined that some day we too would form such a procession.

Beginning our new careers in the Medical College of Virginia, a cosmopolitan group of Freshmen became introduced to the art of pharmacy at the expense of much work and time. Somehow, as the year pressed on, and its days became less and less, we became a worried group of individuals enduring the twofold existence of mental demand and physical supply. Engrossed as we were, in the exaction of Biology, Chemistry and other sciences, we managed to stay away from a bookish existence just long enough to become cognizant that we had neighbors in the form of twenty odd souls struggling with the same problems.

The routine of student life was broken occasionally by such diversions as a dance or motion picture whose theme told us, in some intangible way, that the sterner "stuff" for which we came to college was to be forgotten for the moment; and that fellowship was next in importance to technical knowledge.

Having more or less successfully weathered a barrage of quizzes, we feel that we are now M. C. V. students. Although we were a bit bewildered at first by the many different things that do bewilder Freshmen, we have, all in all, had a reasonably satisfactory first year.

We, as members of the Freshman Class, owe a great deal to our professors who are so kind and patient with us. Some can even laugh at our mistakes. We hope to overcome our mistakes and failures, and it is the fond hope and wish of all that the day of reckoning will find the present Freshman Class graduating all of its original members.

Senior Class History

"WE'VE come a long way together," and what a long way it has been! When we look back to that Friday in September, when we first came to M. C. V., it seems that the time has stretched into a great deal more than three years.

It took only a short while for us to realize what a pleasant place home had been. As a result several members of our class suffered acute attacks of homesickness; in fact, we still have two or three chronic cases among us. We all felt a little better when Miss Wolf, quite accidently, informed us that neither an acute nor chronic case of the aforementioned disease has been known to terminate fatally. The best remedies suggested in its treatment were: At least eight hours of labor on the wards daily, two or three hours of class work, an hour or two of reference reading at the library each evening, and a basketball game or dance now and then. To prevent a relapse, do not let doting parents or relatives send you a box of really good food from home.

Of all our classes we seemed to enjoy Chemistry the most. We found Dr. Negus to be a generous and witty professor who firmly believed in apples for his pupils. In Drugs and Solutions, we waded through liters, ounces, and cc.'s of Saline, Bichloride, Boric Acid, and Lysol and emerged skilled—or so we thought—in the preparation of soothing and microbe-destroying solutions.

No one of us will ever forget her first day on the wards as we struggled through the processes of giving baths and back rubs, and making square corners on round-cornered mattresses. From this point our education proceeded more rapidly: We received our caps, learned to give hypodermics, and to assist those handsome internes.

During the past three years several important changes have taken place: The new Clinic Building was opened, and McGuire Hall was enlarged. Above all, we have watched with pride the building of our new hospital. We deeply regretted the loss of Miss Zeigler and Miss Wolf who accepted positions elsewhere at the beginning of our Junior Year, but wish for them much joy and success in their work.

Our black bands, received at the beginning of our Senior Year, seemed to give us renewed courage and helped us to remember the ideals with which we entered the nursing profession. Althought the work has been hard and very discouraging at times, we have been richly rewarded by the gratitude of our patients and the knowledge that we can be of service to humanity.

The class of 1940 will always remember with sincere gratitude and affection as its best friends Miss Zeigler, Miss Wolf, Miss Pancake, and Miss Loope, who stood by us and started us safely on our career in nursing at M. C. V.

Junior Class History

THE last year has passed so swiftly; it hardly seems possible that we can write a Junior Class History. When we entered as preliminary students, our aim was to wear a uniform and cap. Having acquired this aim, we looked forward with eager longing in our hearts to being Juniors. Now, at last, this longing has been fulfilled and we can boast of having learned much in the field of nursing during our first year at M. C. V.

Other than our work, we have participated in several social activities. Among these were the Reception Dance, Student Body Dances, the Senior Picnic, Basketball, Glee Club, and various others. During our Junior Year, we plan to engage in still more activities, and are looking toward a pleasant season.

When we decided to choose Nursing as a profession, three years seemed a long time, but time is short and there is so much to be done. We realize, also, that after our Junior Year, there is but one remaining year for us to combine all our knowledge and summarize our practical efforts into what we would term "a graduate nurse."

With our aims ahead of us, and our ever looking forward to higher ideals, our seriousness of the task before us, and the spirit of good will in our hearts, we will strive to be good nurses as were those who have passed along the road ahead of us. May we prove a credit to our school of nursing and to the Medical College of Virginia.

History of the Pre-Clinical Class

HISTORY repeats itself, and so it is that the history of our class is not essentially different from that of preceding Pre-Clinical Classes.

On arrival no doubt our class experienced the same feeling of timidity that the members of former classes felt. The class arrived in a period of change in many things. We saw a structure being raised in which to house the hospital for white patients. Eighteen stories of steel and brick in which we would some day work and study. We found a new Dean, Miss E. Louise Grant, whose foresight and realization of the problems of student nurses has been invaluable to us. Miss Moyer, instructor in Nursing Arts, whose ideals have guided us along the way, was almost as new as we, but education and experience were back of her. This class has seen the completion of the "Restored Egyptian Building," a new story being added to McGuire Hall and constructions of every kind going forward.

Not only have the new things been an advantage, but the things that are standard, the ideals and the aims of the institution have meant much to each individual in this class.

The many affairs in which we have been included have made us feel an integral part of the school. Convocation, the laying of the cornerstone of the New Hospital Building and the Faculty Reception were among the first important happenings. The Student Body Picnic, Activity Night, the Tea for Miss Ziegler, Armistice Day Service at Monumental Church, and the Theta Kappa Psi dance for the class are all things which we will remember for many years.

The most glorious adventure of all was our first days on duty. The sense of wonder at the things we were to do continued with us and we looked forward to the time when we would be on the floors for a longer period of time. That time came the first week in February.

The kindness of supervisors, head nurses, graduates and upperclassmen have helped us so much in making an adjustment to our work.

We hope to receive our caps before many weeks. There are now forty members of our class. Several have dropped for various reasons. We hope each member now with us shall continue with the group to graduate in 1942 with a history of which each will be proud.

STUDENT BODY OFFICERS

THE PURPOSE of the Student Government is to promote college activities, improve the student relationships, conduct and settle the affairs of the Student Body, and work constantly toward making the college greater in every way.

We have our own constitution and honor code by which the Student Body is governed. Any student accused of breaking our honor code is tried by the Honor Council which is composed of fellow-students. We are indeed proud of the record for this year in that not a single breach of our honor system has been reported.

The officers of the Student Body have planned and conducted several dances and picnics during the year. These functions have been well attended and greatly enjoyed and have given an opportunity for the members of the four schools to become better acquainted.

Constructive efforts have been made to raise the morale of the Student Body. During the year, representative groups of students from the several schools have met with their respective Deans at regular intervals to discuss problems pertinent to the betterment of the school and Student Body. We thoroughly appreciate the interest shown by various members of the Faculty and Alumni Association in the affairs of the Student Body.

We believe that one of the greatest assets the Medical College of Virginia can have is an interested and active General Alumni Association. We sincerely hope that each member of the graduating class of 1940 and the classes of the years to come will exert every effort to give their individual support to this important organization.

X-RAY

THE YEAR 1940 is the centennial year of the first Dental School. Therefore, it is only fitting that the editor should dedicate the 1940 edition of the X-RAY to this effort of progress.

With the combined efforts of a worthy and loyal staff, and those of the printer, engraver, and photographer, we have endeavored to give the students of M. C. V. something that might remain throughout the years as a token of remembrance of our Alma Mater . . . M. C. V.

SKULL AND BONES

THIS YEAR'S Skull and Bones staff endeavored to offer the college a weekly paper which would reflect not only the actions but also the spirit of life at the Medical College of Virginia.

New themes, new features, and several changes in set-up were instituted with creditable results; the "Forum," "Campus Camera," "As C. V. Sees 'Em," and "The Scalpel" were added to the old features such as the "Cap and Cape" and the "Parade of Opinion."

The staff deserves much credit for the excellent way in which they covered the events and happenings of interest to members of each of the four schools. The progress of the building program, the particular news from each of the individual schools, and the reports from the administrative offices have all been faithfully and accurately recorded.

Both the editor and the business manager are to be congratulated for the way in which they have conscientiously worked together to produce a publication worthy of the Medical College of Virginia.

KEEP GROWING

THE LURE of the unknown has been the impelling cause of great discoveries; the categorical imperative has driven men forward to notable achievement and to the widening of man's physical, moral, economic, political, spiritual and social horizons.

The frontiers of human experience call imperatively for vision and daring, for strength and courage, for hope, for aspiration, for deathless faith—possibly for self-immolation.

The thought of the frontier necessarily suggests the pioneer. Let us remember that the days of pioneering are not over: the frontier of human experience is not gone; the limits of our horizon have not been reached.

The youth of today should not consider that avenues of progress are closed, for goals of high achievement lie ahead. The world you face today is nothing more than a vast frontier, open to development to those whose minds and hearts reach out to progress. You are standing on the frontier of accomplishment, pioneers of a new day.

To the school boy, college is a frontier and to enter it is to be a pioneer. To the graduate, the world is a frontier—an unexplored land. The tasks, the problems, the rewards which lie ahead of you today are fully as difficult, baffling and alluring as those which faced the pioneers of bygone years—and you have been trained to face them.

A few words to you who are leaving your Alma Mater:

1. Don't cease to be students. The college has not educated you; it can only prepare and furnish tools for you and offer you a selection. You must educate yourselves. Go Right On Working (the acrostic is "Grow").
2. Live a full, abundant, abounding, joyous life. And so bring joy and gladness into this dreary, tired, disappointed world that we are passing on to you.
5. Think for yourselves, but have respect for others. The thoughts of the men of past generations should be and may be of value to you; but sift the wheat from the chaff that the residue may be a useful reality.
4. Love your native land and serve it. Government is essential. Bear your part of the responsibility. If you fail, to whom can we look?
5. Believe in yourselves and have respect for yourselves and your powers—but let your pride be the pride of noblesse oblige; but withal do not take yourselves too seriously; learn to laugh at yourselves.

Heaven speed you in your high career. We, your Alumni Association, can sense the pride your college has in you at this time—and we can hear it say to you as you leave its halls:

"And when the world shall praise your name
For gracious deeds and manners fine,
Your Alma Mater will assert her claim
And proudly whisper, 'These are mine.'"

"Is this Product Council-Accepted"?

This is the first question many physicians ask the detail man, when a new product is presented.

If the detail man answers, "No," the doctor saves time by saying, "Come around again when the Council accepts your product."

If the detail man answers, "Yes," the doctor knows that the composition of the product has been carefully verified, and that members of the Council have scrutinized the label, weighed the evidence, checked the claims, and agreed that the product merits the confidence of the physician. The doctor can ask his own questions, and make his own decision about using the product, but not only has he saved himself a vast amount of time but he has derived the benefit of a fearless, expert, fact-finding body whose sole purpose is to protect him and his patient.

No one physician, even if he were qualified, could afford to devote so much time and study to every new product. His Council renders this service for him, freely. Nowhere else in the world is there a group that performs the functions so ably served by the Council on Pharmacy and Chemistry and the Council on Foods.

Mead Johnson & Company cooperates with both Councils, not because we have to but because we want to. Our detail men can always answer you, "Yes, this Mead Product is Council-Accepted."

MEAD PRODUCTS, COUNCIL-ON-PHARMACY ACCEPTED:

Mead's Oleum Percomorphum (liquid and capsules); Mead's Cod Liver Oil Fortified With Percomorph Liver Oil; Mead's Viosterol in Halibut Liver Oil (liquid and capsules); Mead's Cod Liver Oil With Viosterol; Mead's Viosterol in Oil; Mead's Standardized Cod Liver Oil; Mead's Halibut Liver Oil.

A Sure Way To Win A Fortune

Theodore Roosevelt said: "When a man hasn't a substantial fortune and wants one hard enough, he'll take chances to get it. But the only way to get it without taking chances is to take out Life Insurance."

For nearly seventy years we have been selling foolproof fortunes at notably low rates. Let us show you how easy it is to arrange for one to be available when you or your family will need it most.

VIRGINIA ENGRAVING COMPANY

101 GOVERNOR STREET, RICHMOND, VIRGINIA

A College Annual requires the undivided interest and attention of Editor, Business Manager and Publisher if it is to present that much desired appearance of Character.

¶ For that reason, Everett Waddey Company handles only a limited number of annuals each year—a limited number so as to permit proper service.

¶ Everett Waddey Company of Richmond, Virginia, alone was responsible to the Staff of the X-RAY for 1940 for the correct manufacture of the X-RAY.
